

There will be a pie supper at the Flatwood church house Thursday night, November 2, and the public is cordially invited to attend. Good pies and a good time.

"Do you know," remarked Carl Christian, Decatur merchant, "I read regularly the Messenger's farmers' swap column, one of the most interesting features of the paper."

Don't know the effect Will Rogers' plea for harmony among certain Texans who are "at outs" in political circles, but it was a good plea, at that. Will took over the big show at the Dallas banquet Thursday night.

This fellow Joe Bailey, Jr., appears to be the spark plug at big gatherings of Texas democrats. That he is tremendously popular is evidenced on every hand. Looks very much like son is going to follow in the footsteps of father—in the steps that lead to the senate chamber in Washington.

Decatur and Wise County Day at Arlington Downs next Thursday, November 2; and the old friends and their descendants of the Waggoners are going down to play and frolic at the greatest institution of its kind in the United States—built and equipped by W. T. Waggoner, who started his business career in Decatur.

Jim Farley is a big, breezy fellow; well met, and a democrat of the old school. A bald head, full of sound sense; a patriot—a true democrat. Two good eyes that see much, ears that hear much, a tongue that tells just what should be told. Jim had a good time in Texas, associating with good democrats, and he carried a good message back to the chief.

W. R. Boyd, prominent merchant and business man of Boyd, in the "heavy end" of Wonderful Wise, in town Tuesday, stated his town and community were making preparations to stage a big community fair and rodeo in Boyd, November 3 and 4. "We are expecting a big crowd," said Mr. Boyd, "and all of Wise county is invited to come and make merry with us."

"Want to commend the Messenger for that splendid feature, the Farmers' Swap Column; something new, and something that brings big results to the farmers of the county," stated E. S. Doyle, gunner at Slidell. L. M. Atcheson, another prominent gin man of that town, was appreciative of the pioneer paper's big feature. "It is great for the farmers; something they have been needing, and it brings about trades that could not be made thru any other medium."

Positive evidence that there is to be a merry time in the political arena in these immediate parts next year, comes to light most every day. Almost every day some good, democrat, some days several, tell the Messenger observer that this and that fellow are grooming for this and that office. Two or more are mentioned for county judge, at least two for county attorney, three maybe four, for county clerk, two or more for sheriff, two for county commissioner. Yes, the fun will be a-plenty, indicates report.

Letter to Messenger editor from Walter Splawn, enroute on Baltimore & Ohio, after short visit with relatives and friends in Decatur and community, states he was put for time while here, and failed to see a number of his old friends. We were out when our long-time friend called at Messenger office. "Sorry not to get to see you," writes Walter, "and have a little talk with you about the state of the republic." One of the most prominent men in the national capital, and recognized as one of the country's best thinkers on affairs having to do with government economic laws, is this splendid product of Wonderful Wise county. He grew to young manhood in the great Greenwood section.

On the elaborate menu card at the Garner-Farley banquet in Dallas last Thursday evening the names of the state reception committee appeared, and believe it or not, someone in authority in preparing the program, overdid the job. Messenger editor's name appearing four times on the list; suppose someone thought it required four listings for us to make one appearance. Looked very much like the work of certain good democrats, who are known to this editor, and proper steps will be taken at next meeting. And so, on the card appeared the names: Mr. Dick Collins, Col. Richard Collins, Col. Dique Collins, Mr. Richard Collins. Honors sufficient to capsize an ordinary country editor.

"I may pad my way to the church-house every day, looking sanctimonious; I may sit in the a-men corner and groan supplications to the Lord of Hosts until my face reddens to the hue of a turkey gobbler's snout in struttin' time; I may sing praises to the Man of Galilee from the front row of the choir, sing loud and long, and I may give all my (cast-off, worn threadbare) clothing to the passing throng of ragged men and women, and give from my larder the stores (I have found to be unfit for my own consumption)—yes, do all this, and, yet, if I harbor ill-will against my neighbor, glory in the hard luck and rejoice over the misfortune of someone I dislike; if I bow to position and crave money, that I may be looked up to—all is lost, and I am rowing in the same boat with the gentry that is hell-bound; as certain as death and taxes."

BOYD TO HOLD TWO DAY EVENT

Business Men of Town To Sponsor Fair and Rodeo

The fourth annual community fair of Boyd which is sponsored by the Boyd business men and the Boyd chapter of Future Farmers of America, will be held on the third and fourth of November, with the main events of the fair being the dairy show, the colt show, the farm produce show, poultry show, rodeo and the F. F. A. judging contest.

Lawrence Goodger and Albert Pavillard will be in charge of the dairy show and these men report that there is the best outlook for this event there has ever been in Boyd. The cattle will be judged at 11 a. m. on Friday.

G. A. Taylor, Hays Dunaway, Tom Walker and "Cowboy" Baker will have charge of all other livestock. The best show in this line will probably be the colt show, as a large number have promised entries in the contest. There will be two classes in this event. The horse colts and mule colts, that have been foaled since Jan. 1, 1933. These colts will be judged Saturday morning at 11:00 o'clock.

The farm products exhibits will consist of every kind of farm produce grown locally. Several exhibits have already been prepared for this show which insures a large display of farm products.

The Wise County F. F. A. judging contest will be held at 10 o'clock on Saturday morning. The following classes will be judged: two classes of young Jersey cows; two classes of aged Jersey cows; two classes of feeder hogs, one class of exhibition barred rock hens; one class of Rhode Island red hens. These hens will be judged as exhibition birds, while one class of White Leghorn hens will be judged on production qualities. There will be two classes of red eggs and two classes of white eggs to be judged.

The outlook for the poultry show is very good, considering the prices of poultry products. Excellent classes in barred rocks, Rhode Island reds and White Leghorns are expected.

The rodeo program on Saturday evening promises lots of entertainment. The regular program of calf roping, wild steer riding, goat roping and other kinds of contests will be held. A good horse will be given away at the rodeo.

Everyone is invited to attend this fair. Plenty of entertainment will be furnished at all times.

Popular Colored Man Answers Last Call

Dick Brown, colored, a citizen of Decatur since its infancy, died at his home in Northeast Decatur, Saturday morning from a heart attack, and funeral services and burial were held Sunday afternoon. A large number of white citizens attended the funeral. Uncle Dick as he was familiarly known to all Decatur citizens, stood high in the esteem of all. He was honest, and attended strictly to his own affairs, and at all times he was polite to his numerous white acquaintances. Dick Brown came to Decatur as a slave of the late S. Brown. After being freed, he worked for the Halls and Waggoners as a cow-hand on ranches in Northwest Texas, later being employed at the Glen Halsell home southwest of Decatur. His first wife, Melissa, died several years ago. For the past twenty years, Uncle Dick and his family have lived in the colored section of the town. A wife and several children survive.

MEMORIAL FOR GREAT EDUCATOR

Springtown Association president, E. E. Wren, presided at a special meeting Sunday afternoon, Oct. 15, at Springtown, called to organize a campaign to solicit funds to erect a monument at Springtown honoring Prof. Ben. F. Fronbarger, founder of the Male and Female College and Prof. John W. McCricken, founder of College Hill Institute and former teachers of the two famous schools.

Addresses were made by Mr. Wren and Association Vice President J. D. Hutcheson, also Dr. W. J. Sparks and Jno. W. Nix. Expressions of confidence in the success of the undertaking were made by all.

The following committee was appointed by Mr. Wren to solicit funds: chairman, Dr. W. J. Sparks, of Poolville, Texas; J. D. Hutcheson, Denton; Mrs. Candace Randolph Ward, Fort Worth; Mrs. Daisy Dail Nix, Fort Worth; Mrs. Ella Lyle Hard, Fort Worth; Dr. Sam J. Petty, Decatur; Mrs. Alma Lyle Hill, Dallas; Mrs. Beesie Denton Cavitt, Dallas; Mrs. Martha Scott Selvidge, Marietta, Okla.; J. P. Montgomery, Springtown; Mrs. May Coleman Yancey, Springtown; Mrs. Cora Ham Jones, Weatherford; Mrs. Annie Davis Hudson, Weatherford; Mrs. Maud McCracken Lindsey, Lamesa; Mrs. Merle Wharton Brown, Houston; Harry Geer, Houston.

Judge B. G. Bouldin of Fort Worth accepted an invitation to attend the meeting, accompanied by his Sunday school class quartet. Selections presented by Mr. Miller and his quartet were thoroughly enjoyed by all.

Letter States Better Times In Germany

Frank Green baker and confectionery merchant in Decatur, is in receipt of a letter from his brother in Germany, and according to statements in the letter, Germany as a whole is looking up and better times are abroad in the land. For the first time since before the war, labor is being employed on a large scale, and the people are becoming happy and contented. This argues well for the country, and indications point to normal conditions coming along at a fast rate. "This is the best news I have heard from the old country in many years; in fact not since 1913, has there been such a good condition existing there," said Mr. Green.

Rev. Gilbert W. Wilson, of Decatur was a visitor recently at the Moody Bible Institute of Chicago, which has been host to thousands of guests from 46 states and 23 foreign countries, who came this summer to attend the Century of Progress exposition.

EAGLES BATTLE BOWIE FRIDAY

Coach Miles' high school Eagles will be seeking their fourth victory Friday afternoon when the Bowie Jack-rabbits come to Penn Dickson Field determined to avenge the 12-0 defeat which the Eagles plastered on them in Bowie last year.

Admission for the game which begins at 3:30 p. m., will be 20 and 35 cents.

To date each team has lost only one game, Nocona being the winner over each. The Eagles team which takes the field Friday will be a physically and mentally alert team as a result of an open date last week.

Coach Stallings' Bowie team will bring an aerial circus built around their quarterback, Elliott, who is regarded as one of the most brilliant passers in North Texas.

The Eagles will depart from orthodox football in an attempt to hold second place in the district 5 conference standing which is shared with Bowie.

TEXAS DERBY BE RUN SATURDAY

Nine of the fastest three-year-olds in training have accepted the call in next Saturday's renewal of the Texas Derby, the turf plum of the autumn season, to be contested over a mile and a quarter distance at Arlington Downs race track. The Texas Derby has attracted attention of horse fanciers and turfmen in all sections of the country, and the cream of this season's three-year-old crop will test their speed and stamina in the grueling run. The complete list of horses and weights and entries follows:

Boy Crazy, 116 A. A. Baroni Robbed, 116 Mrs. A. M. Creech, Justice B., 110, Frank J. Grand Edith A., 109, E. Haughton Aladdin's Dream, 110, J. Loenstein Try King, 110, W. B. Mitchell Gay World, 126, J. A. Nix Col. Hatfield, 126, J. Parmelee Strideaway, 120, Three D Stock Farm

Gay World and Col. Hatfield carry top weight, due to their many thrilling victories this year over some of the flashiest performers in the three-year-old division. Gay World, a Texas owned son of Torchbearer or Cherokee, took rank among the leaders when he trounced Mr. Khayyam, Esq., Barn Swallow and others in the $25,000 Chicago Derby over a mile and a quarter distance, coming from behind in the stretch to a cantering victory. He followed that event with

COUNTY SINGERS SLIDELL MEET

In keeping with the regular custom of the Wise County 5th Sunday Singing convention, there will be a meeting of this convention next fifth Sunday, Oct. 29, at Slidell.

Because of much keen interest on the part of the many singers, there has been an unusual amount of labor and expense put forth to make this the biggest day that the convention has ever enjoyed.

Following are some of the indications of the big day: W. B. Combs is coming with his noted quartet from the Stamps-Baxter Music Co., Dallas. Also one of the best quartets from Oklahoma will be present. Mr. Holland and his loved and appreciated quartet from Dallas. Other good singers will be present from other parts of the state. All singers, both local and from a distance, will have a part on the program that will be made out and added to as the crowd gathers.

The convention opens promptly at 10 a. m. Dinner will be served in basket style, and there will be plenty to eat if you will fill your basket before you leave home.

Do not forget the date—Oct. 29th.—if you love to hear good singing. Come early if you want a seat. Ushers will assist you in finding a comfortable seat.

EDD YOUNG, President.

Former Decatur Lady Dies In Dallas Home

Mrs. C. W. Martin died at her home in Dallas Thursday evening, and following funeral services Friday afternoon, the remains were brought to Decatur for interment in Oaklawn cemetery. Dr. J. L. Ward assisted in the rites at the home in Dallas.

Mrs. Martin (Trula Lang) was born in Brazil, South America, where her father, Col. Lang, was one of the prominent business men of his section. When a small child her parents moved to Texas, locating in Decatur, where Col. Lang engaged in the banking business. She grew to young womanhood in Decatur, and was recognized as one of the section's most beautiful young ladies; she was well educated, highly cultured, and possessed of a charming and winning personality. An aristocratic, at the same time, democratic, manner, Trula Lang drew about her numerous friends, and she was popular in the social sphere of the community. The Martin-Lang wedding was one of the outstanding society events of the season, occurring at the beautiful Lang home in Northeast Decatur. For many years Mr. and Mrs. Martin resided here, where Mr. Martin was a practicing attorney. In later years

SPECIAL DAY IS GIVEN DECATUR

Arlington Downs Will Be Visited By Citizens Wise County

Decatur and Wise county citizens are going to have an "inning" at the great Arlington Downs racing plant and breeding farm next Thursday, November 2, the day having been designated as "Old Home Town Day,"—a play-day for the people from the old stamping grounds of the family who began life in the cattle industry here and who own the great show place between Fort Worth and Dallas. Mr. W. T. Waggoner and sons, Guy and Paul, invite their old friends and neighbors to come and make merry on "Decatur and Wise County Day" at Arlington Downs.

Indications point to all sections of the county being represented on the day at the Downs, according to a statement of Mr. O. L. Thomas, vice president of First National Bank in Decatur, who is looking after the arrangements. Other towns in this section are having "days at Arlington Downs" meeting, and the suggestion that the old home-town of the Waggoners, where they began building their fortunes, be represented in the list, immediately met with the approval and sanction of Mr. Waggoner and his sons. Thursday, November 2, is the day designated. Many will congregate in Decatur and go in their cars, and a delegation will stop in Fort Worth to pay respects to Mr. Waggoner, who is just recovering from a severe illness.

The parents of Mr. Waggoner were pioneer citizens of Decatur, coming here from Hopkins county not many years after the organization of the county. W. T. Waggoner was a child when his parents came. He grew to young manhood here, and in his teens he was a clerk in a general merchandise store, owned and operated on the south side of the public square by the late R. M. Collins.

The story of this period of his life is best told by Mr. Waggoner himself, who was visiting the Messenger a short time ago, before he was taken down with an attack of partial paralysis at his home in Fort Worth:

"I grew tired of the confinement of being kept in a store, so I decided to go into the cattle punching business. Had a horse, and with all my earthly belongings in a sack, I told your father I had quit. He insisted on me staying on the job. You see, I was living as one of the family at your father's home, doing the work about the house and clerking in the store. (The mother of Tommy, as he was called, died when he was quite young and he lived in the home of Mr. and Mrs. R. M. Collins, long-time friends of Mr. and Mrs. D. Waggoner.) My father was ranching at the time up in Northwest Texas. He did not approve of me becoming a cattle puncher, as I was young, but I had made up my mind. So, I told your father and mother good-bye, and straddled my horse and struck out to make my way as a cow-hand. Wound up at a ranch not far from one of my father's, and immediately hired to the boss. Some way the report reached the Waggoner ranch that I had contracted to go to work for this man, and the next day my father came over to see me. He was surprised to find that I had cast my lot as a cow-puncher, but knowing that I had made the decision for good, he told me to come and join his crew. I did, and my life in the cattle business was begun."

W. T. Waggoner's success is well known; today he is the cattle king of his native state. Hard work and keen business sense have crowned his efforts. A lover of good horses since his youth, today he is master of the greatest and most beautiful breeding farm in the United States—Arlington Downs. The first race horse owned by Mr. Waggoner was bought by him when a boy, working for $10 a month, in Decatur.

Miss Joy Bell, of Baylor University, Waco, attended a meeting of Texas academy of Science in Dallas, Friday and Saturday, came to Decatur Saturday afternoon with Miss Freda Reeves and spent Saturday night and Sunday with her parents, Rev. and Mrs. R. E. Bell.

Mr. and Mrs. Carl Faith are opening a confectionery on the west side of the public square he engaged in other business. For a number of years Mr. and Mrs. Martin and children have resided in Dallas.

N. R. A. CENSUS TO BE TAKEN

Replies to the National Recovery census now in progress, are expected from every business establishment, including those in which there are no paid employees, according to Sherwood H. Avery, district manager of the United States department of commerce, who is also executive secretary of the district recovery board of North Texas and the state of Oklahoma.

Returns are essential, the National Recovery Administration has stressed from all employers and from owners of stores and other businesses in which the owner does all the work. Cases have been reported where owners have mistakenly believed that because they have no employees that they need make no return.

Churches, private schools, charitable organizations, social and fraternal groups have been requested to answer the questionnaire and return it promptly, Mr. Avery said.

List Reasons Why Utilities Advertise

There are two very broad reasons why the gas public utilities advertise. The natural gas public utility companies are regulated by the people thru their elected or appointed representatives, including the state legislatures, the railroad or corporation commissions, and the city councils. Consequently, the gas utilities present to the public, thru means of advertising, information about their operations and problems, in order that the public may have an intelligent conception of the industry which it regulates. This is one general reason for gas utilities advertising.

The other general reason is the fact that natural gas competes with other fuels, such as fuel oil, electricity, wood, coal and lignite.

More specifically, the gas companies advertise for the following reasons:

1. To hold and to increase the gas load. Example: Cotton gins changing from competitive fuels to the gas engine. To advise prospective industries about the adequacy and dependability of the gas supply.

2. To introduce new appliances and new processes for improvements in those already in use. Example: The floor furnace, the gas refrigerator, and the automatic gas range.

3. To explain company policies and limitations. Example: Policies as to right-of-way customs. Advice on how main line customers can apply for service. Applications for gas service made to the company by cities and towns.

4. To announce and explain rate changes. Example: Change in industrial rates.

5. To urge safety and advocate conservation and economy in the use of natural gas. Example: Venting appliances and ventilation of rooms. Ways of saving gas in cooking and heating, in order that customers will be enabled to use gas economically and therefore be satisfied with the product and the service.

6. To explain various elements of cost entering into the customers' gas bills. Example: Taxes. Operating processes and facilities necessary to gas service, such as compressor stations, pipe lines, dispatching system, etc.

7. To assist civic enterprises in stimulating the growth of cities and towns. Example: Advertising for new industries.

8. To advise customers to prepare for changes in weather or seasons. Example: Putting gas heaters in order for cold weather.

9. To meet competitive conditions. Example: Electric cooking, oil burning and central heating furnaces.

10. To give the company a means of expression when misunderstood or unjustly attacked. Example: Explaining a newspaper's incorrect statement about taxation.

11. To aid selling special appliances. Example: Sale of gas ranges, water heaters, room heaters, conversion burners, with the price featured.

12. To give notice of temporary discontinuance of service when repairing mains, or other unavoidable service troubles, or to advise of gas odorization, etc.

13. To announce holidays, change in office location, date of paying depositors' discounts, appointment of new agents, explain franchise provisions, etc.

14. To announce and explain customers' service facilities, such as appliance adjustment, cooking schools, home service assistance.

In general, the purpose of our advertising, whether "institutional" or "promotional," is to correctly inform the public about our company, our product and our service, so as to create a public acceptance that is intelligent, informed, and favorable.

Our so-called "institutional advertising" is for the express purpose of informing the public about the production, transportation and distribution facilities of the company so that the public can have confidence in the dependability and efficiency to serve them adequately; also to inform the public in the intelligent and economical use of our service; also the superiority of natural gas over competitive fuels; also the various factors that go to establish the rate charged for gas service.

Our so-called "promotional advertising" is for the purpose of building and holding the gas load.

Friendship Church

S. M. Anderson, Pastor.

Last meeting day was a good day. One saved in the morning service and one addition to the church. Sunday night the house was full.

Prayer-meeting every Friday night. All are invited to come and be with us. This coming Sunday, Oct. 29, we are having an all-day fellowship meeting and we invite all who will to bring a lunch and spend the day with us. Bro. W. W. NeSmith will speak at the eleven o'clock hour. Others will preach in the afternoon. Come praying for a great day.

three consecutive victories at Fairmount Park, setting a new track record for the six furlong sprint.

Col. Hatfield has not been seen under colors for some time, although railbirds pronounce him to be rarin' to go after the glory and the pot of gold at the end of the Texas Derby rainbow. His best effort this year was in the running of the Louisiana Derby when he splashed home thru the rain and mud to defeat the best three-year-olds in winter training. He has proven his prowess both on the slow and dry and will also command considerable attention Saturday afternoon.

Strideway, the Three D's entry, will be the sentimental choice of all Texans, and a victory for W. T. Waggoner's handsome colt will be a distinct step forward for the breeding game in Texas. Bobsled, an E. R. Bradley bred entry, now owned by Mrs. A. M. Creech, will also come in for a good play. Bradley-breeds have won more than their share of the Derbies of this country, and hunch players will likely take a chance on Bobsled carrying on the Bradley traditions.

Keen interest is being evinced thru-out the state in the spectacular sporting event, and special trainloads of racing fans will attend Saturday afternoon from San Angelo and Ranger, Texas, and Chickasha, Okla. With enthusiasm rampant, and with Arlington Downs rapidly becoming the cynosure of all sportsmen's eyes, there is every reason to believe that within the next few years the Texas Derby will rank high among the leading turf fixtures of the nation.

MRS. GEORGE CUNNIUS HONORED WITH SHOWER

Mrs. C. C. Lusk and Mrs. Booth Mooney honored Mrs. George Cunnius, nee Miss Maxine Longmire, with a surprise shower at Mrs. Mooney's home in southeast Decatur, Monday night, Oct. 23.

As the guests entered, they were presented with cards announcing that Mr. Cunnius and Miss Longmire were married on May 22, 1933. This was the first public announcement of the marriage.

A number of games were played, and many useful gifts were presented to Mrs. Cunnius by the assembled guests.

Refreshments were served to the following: Mmes. Cliff Cook, Douglas Dickson, H. M. Mooney, C. B. Longmire, H. B. Young, Bill Alexander, O. E. Boyd, C. H. Price, J. L. Sellars, Joe Reeves, Roy Lusk, H. E. Walker, and Mrs. Rankin; Misses Florene Cook, Addie Lee Boydston, Helen Ruth Boyd, Louise Rutherford, Bonnie Patterson, Alma Tackel, Florene and Lorene Cunnius, Ruth Mooney, Mildred Cook, Mary Jo Hopson, Lillian Walker; and the honoree and hostesses.

LONGMIRE-CUNNIUS

Announcement was made this week of the marriage on May 22, 1933, of Mr. George Cunnius and Miss Maxine Longmire, both of Decatur. They were married in Marietta, Okla., Rev. Holland, Methodist pastor of that city, performing the ceremony. The young couple were accompanied to the city of a million weddings by the bridegroom's sister, Mrs. W. L. Foster and her husband, of Bowie.

Mrs. Cunnius is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. B. Longmire. Prior to her marriage she attended Decatur High School, where she made many friends because of her charming disposition and friendly ways. She is popular among the younger set of Decatur and is one of those fortunate persons who is able to number her friends by her acquaintances.

Mr. Cunnius is the son of Mr. and Mrs. J. T. Cunnius, well-known and substantial citizens of this section. Since coming out of the local high school several years ago, he has been employed in various parts of Texas, but is at present living in Decatur. He is a sturdy young man, well liked by those who know him.

The many friends of the young Mr. Cunnius and his wife are joining as one in wishing for them all good things in this life.

Home Economics In Decatur High School

The members of the home economics II-B class are working on their tailored dresses. Every girl has her dress cut out and most of them have their dresses basted up. They expect to finish them by the end of the second six weeks.

The home economics girls and the Future Farmers of America were entertained with a party Friday night by the Future Bachelors' Association. We enjoyed it very much and expect to show our appreciation by entertaining them later on.

The Home economics Club met Tuesday, October 24. The program consisted of a song by Ruby Davis and one by Eva Burton. We had a business meeting and made plans for going to Megargle. Miss Park told us some things about the meeting. About thirty girls have planned to go. The club adjourned to meet again on Tuesday, October 31.

Puppet Show To Be Halloween Attraction

A novel entertainment will be given in Decatur High School in which the "Merry Go Round Puppets and Marionettes" will present "The Haunted House". This is the first time such a show has been presented in Decatur, and you will enjoy it to the limit.

By buying a ticket you will help your senior class of Decatur High School toward their graduation expenses.

The entire performance is carried on by marionettes and puppets on a specially built miniature stage with lighting effects and music to accompany the actors. It is worth the admission price just to see the clever mechanical devices used in the production.

The performance will be held in the high school auditorium with an admission price of 15c for school children and 25c for adults, on Tuesday, October 31, 1933.

OPEN FORUM PROGRAM GIVEN AT FIRST CHRISTIAN CHURCH

Twenty-one members of Texas Christian University's International Relations Club presented an open forum program on disarmament at the regular evening services of the First Christian church of Decatur, Sunday, October 22.

Dr. W. J. Hammond, sponsor of the club, made the main talk, which was followed by an open forum presided over by Nat Wells, club president. Paul Wassenich of T. C. U. gave the prayer, Dean Harrison the scripture reading and Arle Brooks the benediction. The group made the trip at the invitation of Rev. A. E. Cox, pastor of the First Christian Church.

Members of the club who came were: Misses Ruth Cowan, Hannah Ann House, Loraine O'Gorman, Lou Blumberg, Louise Glass, Evelyn Clary, Rebecca Graves, Opal Longan and Louise Ganker; and Billy Allen, Joe Findley, Paul Wassenich, Johnny Lebus, Stanley Cissna, Joe Carpenter, Arle Brooks, Dean Harrison, R. L. Trimble, John Morphis, Nat Wells, and Dr. Hammond.

BAPTIST LADIES PRESENT MISSIONARY PROGRAM

When the Baptist ladies met at the church Monday for the monthly missionary lesson, Mrs. H. L. Jones, mission chairman, announced that the program would be given by young women from the college.

Miss Clara Fred Gentry presided and the different talks on South America were given by eight members of the Young Ladies' Auxiliary.

A special song by Miss Helen Robinson and Pauline Gill was greatly enjoyed. The meeting was a delight to all. The intelligence, the enthusiasm, and the consecration of the young people is always a blessing to any service in which they have part.

Next Monday being the fifth Monday the ladies of the church come together for a social meeting at the home of Mrs. Cody Milligan. All the women of the Baptist congregation are cordially invited to be present.

CURRENT COMMENT FROM WASHINGTON

The withdrawal of Germany from the arms conference and from the League of Nations creates a peculiar state of affairs. The world now sees Germany, formerly an adherent to the league, throwing its teachings aside, and the United States, outside the league, still contending for its principles. It appears, as has appeared millions of times before, that the thing that counts is what is really in the heart, and not an outward manifestation of approval or opposition. Extreme nationalism is a distinctly German characteristic, or perhaps it would be more correct to say an extreme nationalism coupled with an outspoken candor which is not usually found in international affairs in time of peace. That spirit worked for Germany's good in the days of Napoleon, though German unity as to form of government then was wanting. Under the influence of Bismark, it brought about the unification of the German states, which was a profitable thing for the Fatherland. Existing conditions, however, are not the conditions of 1812 or even those of the 70's. Then the question was whether or not Germany was entitled to feel at ease in the presence of France as a neighbor. The matter which merits serious consideration just now, is whether or not Germany is doing wisely in insisting upon her nationalistic program to the dismay of an astounded, and, it must be admitted, somewhat worried and anxious world.

When the hunter code was discussed, it was suggested that there should be a cedar pole division in it, which, perhaps, was entirely proper. With the NRA, with codes, or with the conduct of the lumber trade, this article has nothing to do. The incident, however, brings to mind the oft-repeated observation that Americans as a whole are afflicted with too much organization. Let a movement be started in the smallest village, and it will not be long before the work is carefully parceled out to committees and subcommittees, with the constituent membership voting yes or no. Let such a movement be instituted in three villages, and there is soon a central governing body, first content to give advice, but in the end assuming control. Excepting the army, and a few similar institutions, bodies of men are held together for efficient work by the acquiescence and participation of the individual member in everything of importance that is being done. With internal groups and external ruling bodies in charge, the whole structure becomes too heavy, coherence is overcome, and sooner or later the fabric falls apart. There is something direct and satisfying about the old-time New England town meeting, under the workings of which the entire population assembled once or twice a year, transacting its business directly and in open council, and then dispersed. Perhaps life is too involved to permit that sort of thing nowadays, yet, who is not moved occasionally by the feeling that his own personal finger ought to have a less obstructed opportunity

LETTERS TO THE PUBLIC

THAT HIDDEN POWER

In last week's issue of the Messenger appeared an article on "That Hidden Power". As mentioned, that hidden power referred to is the Federal Advisory Council. If a reader of this article has ever read of any reference to the fact of the existence of Federal Advisory Council in any daily paper or magazine, or has ever heard this Council mentioned in any political campaign speech, or from the public platform, this writer will thankfully receive the information. Of all the reading and listening this writer has done—and he has done a great deal of it during this depression—he will have to confess that not until just a few months back he did not know of such power permitted by Congress to exist in the Board as Council known as the Federal Advisory Council. Hence this Power is referred to as "That Hidden Power". We quite often meet a reference to the Federal Reserve Board. But just to dip into some particular pie?

The latest kidnapping involves the carrying off of a young man who had inherited a quarter of a million dollars or so. We are indebted to the scripture for the story of some bad men who said: "This is the heir. Come, let us kill him, and the inheritance shall be ours, and they took him and killed him and cast him out of the vineyard." Taking a slice off the heir is not a new racket. So far as devising fundamentally novel forms of evil are concerned, the twentieth century has made few contributions. We are just a little more open and a little more effective in playing out tricks.

Up in Maine, a young man directed a firearm toward a girl in fun. We can pass directly to the conclusion, skipping intermediate details. She is not expected to live. Each recurrence of the hunting season justifies the reprinting of the substance of a sign which a sport-loving English king posted in his shooting lodge: "Never point a gun at a living thing unless you wish to shoot that thing dead."

Almost everyone has his pet grievances, unspoken or expressed. Those who are sure that they have the prize story to tell should read the current account of the Colorado convict, who, having escaped and been captured, had to pay his railroad fare back to jail.

It is generally supposed that the unknown is the thing we fear. A newspaper says Cuba fears strife. Considering that plenty of strife is no more than a way of passing a pleasant afternoon in a Latin-American republic, it appears as though someone is mistaken.

why the existence of this power designated as the Federal Advisory Council should be kept from the general public is not known.

This Advisory Council, consisting of twelve representatives of twelve of the largest banks of our Nation, is the supreme force at the head of the great Federal Reserve banking system of our country, which system embraces all the banks that are member banks. This Advisory Council—twelve representative bankers of twelve big banks and their associates—is permitted by our Congress to control the twelve Federal Reserve banks and member banks of the Federal Reserve system. Last week's article called attention to the historical fact that this Financial Power ordered the deflation of 1920 which resulted in ruining the farmer and the stockman and they have not yet had a chance to recover. This was done by simply contracting the currency—Uncle Sam's currency, the people's money—and abruptly cutting off credit to the farmer and the cattle man, while at the same time commerce and industry were taken care of by the High Financiers. Do you, fellow citizen, think that a Democratic people should consent to the existence of such power?

This mighty Financial Octopus reached out its great flexible arms and embraced in 1920 the entire body economic. At this time our entire economic system was brought under the greatest deflation our Nation or the whole world has had to suffer, and the result is our present national plight, and the big banks this time have destroyed the buying power of the farmer and the wage-earner and thus brought wreck and ruin to all forms of business and the professions, and even the banking business itself, and no banking business is left for the big bankers except between themselves and the nations of the world, and that on Uncle Sam's—the people's money. In 1930 not only was currency circulation contracted but credit was cut off to commerce, industry and even the member banks of the Federal Reserve System. George W. Armstrong, in his discussion of "A State Currency System", after his reference to the Advisory Council bringing on the deflation of 1920 as referred to in last week's article, here what follows is what he said of the Advisory Council of 1920:

"Likewise, the Federal Reserve Board submitted to the Advisory Council the question of what steps, if any, should be taken to check the riotous speculation on the stock exchanges in 1929. The Board was instructed to apply the screws—to put up the discount rate, to contract currency and credit—and this was done and we are now suffering the consequences.

"The members of the Federal Advisory Council, who are responsible for this great calamity to America and the world, are:

These are the men who then (that is, 1929) actually controlled all of the banking and currency resources of the nation, and the wealth and destiny of all the people of the nation, and of the nation itself. These were then our masters that had more to do with our well-being than the president and the Congress of the United States. They held their secret meeting in Washington, unheralded and behind closed doors, and no report was made of their proceedings except such as they gave to the Federal Reserve Board.

Is it not time that the citizenship of America inform themselves as to the existence and power of this Advisory Council and demand that the control of currency expansion and credit expansion be turned back to our Congress? If this Advisory Council's power to control should be permitted to continue to exist, should we be delivered from this depression, with all its attendant miseries, this same power could at any time bring about another panic with even greater attendant evils. What shall we do about it? Let every citizen investigate and take action that we may be delivered.

R. L. BLANKENSHIP.

THE PRICE OF COTTON

It is high time for the federal government's machinery to begin functioning in the matter of loans to cotton farmers, seeing that recent sags in the market have cost Texas and the South tens of millions of dollars. Government action advancing .90c a pound on low middling 3/8-inch staple and 8c on shorter lengths may help to steady the market. But one wonders why federal agencies did not decide to lend 15c a pound instead of a dime, when all the world knows that, if prewar parity is aimed at, the figure offered is inadequate. The American Cotton Co-operative Association takes the position, and with considerable weight of evidence on its side, "that cotton now is only 50% of its prewar price, while articles farmers buy are 116%." Clearly cotton price is out of line. Any effort toward farmer recovery in the South must aim at a substantially higher price.

Directors of the American Cotton Co-operative Association also take the view that the secretary of agriculture has legal sanction to bring about prewar parity in line with an announced program. It is unfortunate that, when such powers have been placed in the hands of government officials, they take their own good time to put remedial measures into operation. In the matter of cotton acreage reduction steps were taken so late that farmers actually had to plow up whole fields in full fruit when more timely action could have prevented the planting of an excessive acreage, by far the cheapest method all round. As to distribution of federal cotton checks, these would have done greater good had they been sent to farmers early in August as originally due. Coming largely in October they are still highly welcome and are greatly helping business conditions. Better late than never!

In Lynn P. Talley the administration has selected a man to head the new cotton credit corporation who has had long and varied acquaintance with cotton banking problems and who knows not only farmers but bankers and merchants. His Texas experiences alone will give him the needed background of intimate knowledge of a situation requiring special talents.—Dallas News.

By Don Mockler
(Feature Writer, "U. S. Air Services")

ROOSEVELT FIELD, N. Y. (Special)—With the calm and efficient hand of Captain Alford J. Williams at the controls as Director of Events, the aeronautical extravaganza staged for charity and billed as the National Air Pageant held here October 7 and 8, came to a glorious conclusion Sunday night. More than 75,000 New Yorkers have had their first real taste of aviation activity on their "home grounds" since the races here in 1925.

As a special Pageant feature Captain Williams took his Curtiss "Gulfhawk" into the air on both days and introduced "painting aerobics in the air," accomplished by a unique chemical smoke tank arrangement, allowing detailed study of the intricate maneuvers performed by this outstanding aviator.

The Pageant attracted several hundred civilian fliers, in addition to 21 ships of the 8th Pursuit Group, 11 planes of the 2nd Bombardment Group, and 30 ships of the East Coast Expeditionary Force of the U. S. Marines.

As the Manager of the Aviation Department of the Gulf Refining Company, Al Williams had seen to it that the full airport service facilities of Gulf were placed at the disposal of the Pageant participants, and the Gulf airport trailer, special trucks, field cars, etc., were busy twelve hours both days of the Pageant.

Jimmie Wedell, holder of the land plane speed record of 305 mph, was prepared to defend his record against all-comers, and incidentally also try and establish a new record but was forced down on his first attempt when his motor cowling loosened, damaging his propeller.

Captain Williams had been commissioned by an anonymous patron of aviation to offer a silver trophy and a $2,500 purse to the flier establishing a new speed record.

Speaking of the unknown donor Captain Williams stated that "this American aviation altruist, has in mind the sole thought of providing a definite objective toward which this country's plane designers, builders and fliers might strive."

"I consider that this gesture is one of the finest and most important that has ever been made in the name of aviation."

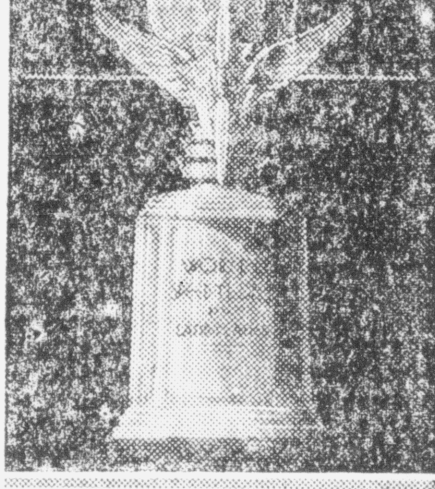

Major Ernst Udet, German ace, was excellent in his aerobatic work. An outstanding performance was staged by Roy Hunt, who with motor dead, came down from 10,000 feet, doing a series of outside and inside loops, spins, rolls, and dives. Major Alexander P. deSeverskey, in an amphibian of his own design, esablished an unofficial amphibian speed record of 176 mph.

Despite the air features, attention was diverted to the ground every time the Gulf-Dymaxion came past the stands. This car, illustrated above, embodies the streamlining lessons taught by aerodynamics.

With a top-speed of 120 mph, it produces thirty miles to a gallon of fuel. Its single rear-wheel steering makes it especially flexible in any traffic situation.

As the aerial bombs late at night signalled the close of the Pageant, Captain Williams expressed his personal appreciation to Mrs. Roosevelt and all the members of the many volunteer committees who had worked with him during weeks of intensified effort to bring the involved program of the National Air Pageant to a successful conclusion.

Trophy donated anonymously as inspiration to continued development of American aviation.

FUNDAMENTALIST BAPTIST CHURCH

Gilbert Wilson, Pastor.

The pastor being absent in Chicago, attending Moody Bible Institute, Bro. A. D. Willis, of Gibtown, preached for us both hours last Sunday. He brought us two helpful messages. Subject at morning hour, "Ye are the light of the world—Let your light so shine." All the spiritual light this benighted world can see is Christ's light shining thru his redeemed children. We should reflect His light in our lives, as the moon reflects the light of the sun. Apart from this light, the world is dark indeed. At evening service the message was brought from the story of the prodigal son.

At the 10 a. m. Bible school we had a very inspiring lesson from the 21st chapter of Revelation. The closing chapter is our lesson for next Sunday. Come and be with us. In view of the "times," this book has been a very instructive study. It is comforting to the righteous, but a fearful warning to the wicked, the unbeliever.

Prayer meeting Thursday night led by E. C. Chapman. Teachers meeting Tuesday night. All teachers and others who will, are urged to be present as some matters of importance are to be considered.

Bro. Wilson will be home for all services next Sunday and will report on his visit to the great city, Chicago, among other things, great in its wickedness.

By neglect or otherwise, we have thru the summer months permitted the pastor's salary fall behind. During his absence we are making a special effort to collect this deficit, that we may surprise him upon his return with a check in full for all dues. If every member will contribute to this fund at "the Lord has

Pentecostal Church

Prayer meeting Wednesday, 7:30 p. m.

Evangelistic services Saturday and Sunday at 7:30 p. m.

Jesus is coming soon for his church. Hallelujah! God is pouring out his spirit on all flesh, baptizing believers with the Holy Ghost, with the evidence of speaking in tongues as they received on the day of Pentecost. If you are a follower of Christ, why reject the Holy Ghost? Be fair with yourself and God, and receive this experience, for you will need it to make the rapture when the church is caught up to meet Jesus in the air.

prospered him," the treasury will have a handsome surplus. Primarily this is a debt we owe to our Lord. Don't you want a part in paying the Lord what we owe Him? "It is more blessed to give than to receive." "Bring ye all the tithes into the storehouse . . . and prove me saith the Lord, if I will not open the windows of heaven and pour you out a blessing that there shall not be room to receive it."

Let us have a full attendance next Sunday to greet the pastor upon his return, and come prepared to boost this collection "as the Lord has prospered you", from a penny up. Some out of the liberality of their souls and their love for the Lord and His cause, have already given to the point of sacrifice. "God loves a cheerful giver."

Young people's Bible class each Sunday evening at 6:15.

Evening services at 7:15 each Sunday.

We are expecting a large crowd to go to Gibtown Friday night of this week. The truck leaves the tabernacle at 4:00 p. m. Friday.

BAPTIST CHURCH

R. E. Bell, Pastor.

The revival meeting at the Baptist church is attracting large crowds, and there were five additions to the church during the first week. The attendance from out of town has been unusually large. Groups have been present at various times from Bowie, Alvord, Chico, Bridgeport, Corinth and Audubon. The meeting will continue through Sunday.

The music has been very fine. Mrs. Milligan presiding at one piano and Miss Linnie Blewett at the other. At the morning services Mrs. Jno. Simmons has played. The singing has been led by Bro. Glosup, Bro. Washburn and Prof. Brumelow. Mrs. Batdorf has led at the week-day morning services.

There will be no service Saturday morning, but services will be held Friday night at 7:15 and Saturday night at 7:30. The service will begin Thursday night also at 7:30.

Interest is deepening and large results are expected before the meeting closes.

Don't Get Up Nights

MAKE THIS 25c TEST

You need this easy bladder physic to drive out impurities and excess acids which cause irritation that results in leg pains, backache, burning and getting up nights. BU-KETS, the bladder physic, containing buchu, juniper oil, etc., works on the bladder pleasantly and effectively, similar to castor oil on the bowels. Get a 25c box (5 grain size) from your druggist. After four days, if not relieved of getting up nights go back and get your money. You are bound to feel better after this cleansing and you get your regular sleep. Locally at Renfro's Drug Store.

FILL THOSE EMPTY LAMP SOCKETS

Empty sockets make no light. You snap a switch... expect a light... and then remember that you used the lamp in another place. What an annoyance! What a nuisance! What false economy... to change lamps from one socket to another... especially when you can buy the best lamp made for such a small sum.

So fill those empty sockets... give them a chance to be useful and to render the service they should. Order enough lamps to fill your empty sockets and to replace all burnt-out lamps. Then keep an extra carton in the cupboard for emergencies. Order a supply today.

WHEAT PRODUCTION AND ACRAGE

Statements of Members of the Wheat Production Control Association of Wise County
State of Texas

Wheat Production and Acreage
Statements of Members of the Wheat Production Control Association of Wise County, State of Texas.

The following is a statement of the production and planted acreages of wheat in the years 1930-31-32 and planted acreage for 1933 of producers of Rhome and Decatur who have submitted applications for farm allotments. This publication is made in compliance with the regulations of the Agricultural Adjustment Administration. It is made so that a check may be made on all statement claims, and so that reports may be made to the county Wheat Production Control Association on any inaccuracies which may appear in the statements.

The allotment for this county has been definitely calculated from official records of the United States Department of Agriculture, and is 68,000 bushels. This is the total allotment for the county. Therefore, if any farmer receives a greater allotment than his past production warrants, he is thus depriving other farmers in his county of their just share.

Total production figures of those who apply for contracts, together with those who do not, must be consistent with the official county production as shown by the records of the United States Department of Agriculture. If the county totals are greater than the official totals, it will be necessary to make a downward adjustment.

Any person may make a confidential
report if he finds any statement
here which he believes to be inaccurate. Such reports should be made to the community or county Allotment Committee, either in writing or verbally. The reports will be strictly confidential. A farmer whose statements are said to be inaccurate will need to prove his production figures.

Farmers have been asked to furnish evidence of production and evidence of sale, such as threshermen's certificates, elevator certificates, or other records and receipts. Satisfactory evidence will be required of any farmer whose statement is questioned.

The following statements have been condensed to save space. "A." represents acres planted and "bu." represents bushels harvested. The "3-yr.
average" represents the 3-year average acreage and production of 1930-
32. Farmers should refer any questions regarding this publication to their Community Committee or the County Allotment Committee.

Allotment Committee; A. C. Bennett,

Food Market Advice

By ANN PAGE

NEXT week there will be a variety of meat choices suitable to all budget levels, from legs of lamb to pate and avoird. As legs of lamb grow heavier have chops cut from the loin end. This reduces the amount of left over roast lamb to be used.
Pate and navel beef is good—either fresh or corned—and is suitable for boiling or, rather, simmering under the boiling point.

There is a great variety of dishes
to be obtained from chopped beef. It may be broiled or pan-broiled in a large flat cake, pan-broiled, fried or braised shaped into balls; or made into a meat loaf. A meat loaf or pate chopped beef may be shaped in a roll and baked, or, it may be combined with egg and bread crumbs
moistened with milk or tomato sauce.
Many people like to combine chopped
beef with chopped veal, half and half,
or chopped veal and pork using one-third of each by weight. For serving cold, the addition of veal helps it to slice without crumbling.

Cabbage is fine and plentiful. When serving it with corned beef, it should be cooked only a short time to keep it green and white and delicately flavored. Cauliflower is also plentiful.
Although its service is more attractive when it is cooked whole, it cooks more quickly and evenly when broken into flowerettes. This is the more suitable method to use when it is to be scalloped. If evaporated milk is used for the cream sauce, the Quaker Maid Kitchen suggests using the water in which the cauliflower has been cooked, to dilute it, rather than plain water. This is true for vegetables cooked with little water also, though some plain water may be added to make up the required quantity.

Only the flowers and stems of broccoli or cauliflower, are served as a vegetable. The leaves, however, can be used to make the base of a cream soup. If a cream soup for lunch, in addition to a dinner vegetable, is gotten from one purchase, it seems more economical.

Mushrooms are beginning to be plentiful—and how they dress up the otherwise simple meal! Meat loaf with mushroom sauce, creamed chicken with mushrooms, sauteed mushrooms with chopped meat or beefsteak, and for luncheon—cream of mushroom soup, are just a few of the possibilities.

Lettuce is more plentiful and of better quality than it has been in six months. Fine quality and low price offer a double inducement to have at least one salad daily. When root vegetables are used, a salad is especially desirable. Serve plain lettuce with French dressing or the variations of salad dressing, as Russian and Thousand Island dressing. Celery as a relish and salad ingredient is also choice and reasonable.

Spinach is back in quantity. The quality is good and the price low. If spinach is free from sand or grit, not overcooked, and well-seasoned, it is an especially good vegetable.

Grapefruit are plentiful and very reasonable; oranges are slightly more per dozen than they have been. There are plenty of lemons and limes at prices below the summer level.

Concord grapes and Bartlett pears
are coming to the end of their season, but late fall varieties of grapes and pears will be available to replace them. Honeydew melons are still plentiful and of good quality. Both eating and cooking varieties of apples are abundant and inexpensive.

Potatoes are such an indispensable part of our meals that it is good to know that both white and sweet varieties are plentiful and cheap.

Oysters are in season. As winter approaches fish diets and steaks of cod, halibut and salmon are usually very desirable purchases. Other varieties of both fresh and salt water fish depend on how weather conditions have affected the catches.

FORDS MAKE GOOD RECORD IN EUROPEAN COMPETITION

Six Ford V-8 cars, piloted by Dutch drivers, triumphed conclusively over five European and two other American entrants in the fifth annual running of the gruelling 5-day international Alpine Trail over 1,165 miles of Swiss, Italian and French mountain roads, according to official reports of the race just received here.

Three of the winning Fords driven by a Dutch team captained by Dr.
J. J. Sprenger van Eyck, captured the coveted Coupe des Alpes, while the three other Fords won the first three places in the individual competition for the Coupe des Glaciers.
The first two tied for first place with the best score of any of the dozens of contestants in the five classes competing.

The annual Alpine contest is probably the most severe test of motor car endurance and performance conducted in Europe. It is open only to stock cars as sold to the public. Its route from Merano, via St. Moritz, Turin and Grenoble to Nice, includes the ascent and descent of 12 major passes, with the steep winding roads,
scores of dangerous "hair-pin" turns
and a never ending variety of road surfaces, which test alike the stamina of the cars and the skill of the drivers.

Most difficult of all the passes is the Stelvio, in the Ortler Alps, between Italy and Switzerland. It rises to 9,150 feet above sea level. The highway leading to it is the highest automobile road in the world. In the course of the 11-mile climb from the valley, the drivers were forced to negotiate 52 "hair-pin" bends before reaching the snow capped top of the mountain.

The Ford cars and other competitors in the principle class were required to make the ascent of this difficult pass at an average of 28 miles an hour. Many were forced to stop along the way to replenish the water in their violently steaming radiators, but the Ford cars came up the pass in formation without a halt and continued their journey without adding water.

At the final inspection of the com-

COUNTY AGENT URGES JERSEYS BE REGISTERED NOW

Urging the Jersey breeders of this section to register their animals immediately to take advantage of the temporary low rates in effect now, Guy Powell, county agent, said today that he has just received an announcement from Lewis W. Morley, executive secretary of the American Jersey Cattle club, New York, N. Y., that the time limit for the present
low registration and transfer fees expires on December 1, 1933.

Until that date the registration for Jerseys over two years of age is $5,
and Jerseys under two years of age may be registered for the fee usually charged for animals under one year of age. The fee for recording transfers received six months after date of delivery of animals to new owners is likewise reduced from $3 to $2,
until December 1, 1933.

Mr. Morley says also, that the life membership fee in the American Jersey Cattle club is now reduced from $100 to $50. Since this reduction became effective about two months ago
men and women in eighteen different states have become members of the club, according to Mr. Morley.

Fees for Jersey registrations and transfers are lower to members than non-members of the club. For example, members may register heifers under one year of age for $1, and the other fees are correspondingly lower.
The reduction in fees to members has been in effect for many years.

"Our organization, the oldest dairy breed organization in the United States, feels it wise to have a large membership," Mr. Morley says, "because of the beneficial influence on the further development of the breed,
providing, of course, the new members have those qualities of vision and leadership we all associate with progressive owners of Jersey cattle."

peting cars at the finish in Nice, where penalties were imposed for faults in condition, the Ford cars were passed without penalty and the drivers complimented by the judges upon the condition of the cars, both mechanically and in appearance.

IF YOU COUNT THE COST

The cost of attending our school is nominal for two reasons: In the first place, our tuition charges have always been very reasonable and, in the second place, we afford the student the opportunity to get the fullest possible out of his investment of time. In other words, we make it possible for the good student to finish his course in a short time, thus both limiting the cost of his education and giving him a chance to take employment much earlier than would be possible were his courses unduly extended.

It is said one pays for an education even though one does not get it. This is true. One pays for it in decreased earning power, limited opportunities, and small achievements. Therefore, the cost of an education is infinitesimal as compared with the cost of not having it.

After all, a thing is worth what it will do for its owner—nothing more. On this basis some types of education have doubtful value, but business education rates high in the scale of worth. It means preparation for immediate and certain employment, as well as certain advancement; so the worth of a practical business education is greatly in excess of the cost.

The practical training is the type of training we specialize in. We endeavor to equip the young, ambitious person so he may step right on the next day after graduation and begin earning—not four or six months each year but for the full twelve months. We solicit the bright, ambitious young man or woman, equipped with at least a high school education to spend a few months with us. When his course is finished and with the aid of our Employment Department, we will find him or her a place in business, with an assured future to economic independence.

Overcome Pains this better way

WOMEN who get into a weak, run-down condition can hardly expect to be free from troublesome "small symptoms."

Where the trouble is due to weakness, Cardul helps women to get stronger and thus makes it easier for nature to take its orderly course. Painful, nagging symptoms disappear as nourishment of the body is improved.

Instead of depending on temporary pain pills during the time of suffering, take Cardul to build up your resistance to womanly ailments.

ATTENTION, DECATUR CIRCUIT METHODISTS

Hello everybody! This is station GWTA (Good Will to All) R. E. Parker, announcer. We feel grateful to all of our members, and friends of all denominations, and of no denomination, for the many good things you have said and done for us during the past two years since we have been a pastor in your midst. May God abundantly bless you all. I have greatly enjoyed my stay here with you, and if I am returned to the Decatur Circuit for another year, I shall be glad to come back to you, and if I am sent to another work, I shall remember you very kindly, and count it a privilege to have been with you. I wish to say to my brethren of the Wise County Ministers Association, that my work and association with you has been a benediction to me, and fellow feeling makes us wondrous kind. May the holy spirit be the leader of us all. Our great mission is to combat evil, and be instruments in God's hands in the saving of souls and establishing His kingdom in the hearts of men.

R. E. PARKER, Pastor.

Garvin Methodist

The attendance in the Garvin Methodist Sunday school last Sunday was twenty-six, twenty-four members and two visitors.

Garvin Epworth League meets each Sunday night. Everyone is invited to come and be with us.

Auto thieves stole the car of Mail Carrier Outler D. Gose from in front of the telephone office, the night of the fair. The car was found stripped near Newark, the next day. Mr. Gose is now driving a new car, having traded in what was left of the old one.

It pays to read the classifieds.

Why the Sudden Change to Liquid Laxatives?

Doctors have always recognized the value of the laxative whose dose can be measured, and whose action can be controlled.

The public, too, is fast returning to the use of liquid laxatives. People have learned that a properly prepared liquid laxative brings a perfect movement without any discomfort at the time, or after.

The dose of a liquid laxative can be varied to suit the needs of the individual. The action can thus be regulated. It forms no habit; you need not take a "double dose" a day or two later. Nor will a mild liquid laxative irritate the kidneys.

The wrong cathartic may keep you constipated as long as you keep on using it.

Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin is a prescription, and is perfectly safe. Its laxative action is based on senna—a natural laxative. The bowels will not become dependent on this form of help. Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin is at all druggists. Member N. R. A.
